Santa Fé, 7th.
7 p.m.

We are all safe back from the inauguration. The trip was a delightful one, and the banquet at San Rafaela was a grand affair, the great number of toasts and speeches forming the predominant feature.

The stretch of country from the town of Santa Fé to the Lehmann colony is a luxuriant garden; every inch of the soil cultivated and a waving expanse of wheat. On every side we saw the colonists ploughing the fields. At every station bags of wheat and flour were piled into pyramids. All along the line we noticed new houses springing up, mills and grain sheds.

A grand ball will be given to-night. To-morrow we start for Parana.

TRIP TO SANTA FÉ.

RAILWAY INAUGURATION.

Rosario, July 5th, 1885

The inauguration of a new railway is becoming such an every-day occurrence in the Plate, that it is now a sufficiently difficult task for an editor, not merely to keep up with those ceremonies, but to invest them with fresh interest for the general reader. People in the Plate have as it were become tired of railway inaugurations, and as we walked into the Central Station, at 12 o'clock on Saturday, to join Mr. Hume's party, and saw the crowds of people there, not one of whom cared a fig about our railway inauguration, knew nothing of it, and were bound for La Plata and other parts, we thought to ourself how, even in trifles, one can grasp at the wondrous growth of the Plate. In the days of old Mr Castellanos, the founder of the Santa Fé colonies, had there been a railway started from Santa Fé to the colonies, the whole River Plate world would be preoccupied with the event; to-day, but the contractor and a few friends know anything of, or care anything about, a ceremony so pregnant with consequences to the country and its industry. We met Messrs Hume, Gibbs, Ricketts, Cox, Bosci, Craufurd, Kincaid, and a few others in the train ready to start. The morning was foggy, misty and dreary, and the run out to San Fernando was the same humdrum everyday run since the days when we inaugurated Hopkin's wharf in the same district. There was the difference, however, to note, a beautiful, new station at Belgrano, and a crowd of about 200 Italian immigrants in the train, all bound for Santa Fé. The train runs up to the steamer-wharf just as at Dieppe or Holyhead, and we stepped from the coach to the quarter deck of the little steamer Meteoro, née Vale of Dean, a good little steamer enough, but much the worse for wear and pretty much on a par with the steamers plying between New Haven and Dieppe. It took fully an hour to get all the immigrants, with their bundles and 'catres,' on board. The sight was not devoid of interest. All strong, vigorous, active, young men; all comfortably dressed, all sober, and all starting for their new homes in the Santa Fé colonies, with hope at the helm. We could have wished to have seen some women with them, as a heavy male immigration, like that which this country enjoys from Italy, is not without its most serious drawbacks, and our statesmen should pay more attention to this subject. Here we have about 200 immigrants on board, without a single woman, girl or child; all strong, active, healthy-looking men, none of them over 30; but, we ask ourself, how are these young fellows going to found homes and farms and homesteads and domesticity? Had they brought their sisters or their mothers with them, how different would be their chances of success, and fewer the difficulties they would have to contend with! A colony formed purely of men is an absurdity. There can be no domesticity or home comforts where there are no women, and let us accept it as one of the secret working influences of nature that woman, with all her weakness, is the strongest of all elements in colonial progress.

Starting from San Fernando in the Meteoro is going up the river as we all did 20 years ago, when there was no Campana Railway, no Rosario Railway, no magnificent Apolo or Tridente. It took us back very many years in our life to steam up through the islands, past Sarmiento's, Aguirre's and Brunet's; 16 years ago we swam across the river here, for a wager with poor Don José Mendez, and won the wager too. There's Cocktail Corner, here's Mala Vuelta, and we have run slap bang into the island bank. Now we get to the Tres Bocas and now the Capitan. The day, the weather, season and steamer were all unfavorable for the trip. Everything looked dreary, neglected and going back. The islands are the same to-day as in 1869, when we used to steam through them of a Sunday morning, with Don Eduardo Madero, in the little steamer Mouadita. Change there is none; trees, banks, 'ranchos,' 'chalanas,' all are the same. Rip Van Winkle alike, we steamed along caring nothing for our impressions or reflections. This portion of the trip was a species of compulsory examination of conscience and a look back through a number of years in which everything, save the islands around us, showed change and progress. Twenty years ago, we preached rice growing in those very islands, but it never came to anything. There were no bright flowers blooming on the banks; we couldn't even distinguish a 'ceibo,' and nearly all the tall poplars of former years are cut down. The Delta of the Parana may be all very well in spring or summer, but in winter it is most dreary, and we began even to regret the absence of 'mosquitoes.' Nature, they say, is most prodigal of her gifts in this region, but we could see no evidences of that prodigality, and, as we emerged from the Capitan and came upon the broad expanse of the majestic Parana, we felt like getting out of a swamp. On the opposite shore, we noticed a large house, 'gaipones' etc—the island property of Mr Piaggio. We reached Campana at 7 p.m., and took in some passengers and stopped at Zarate for a few moments, but it was a pitch dark night and we couldn't even see the old arsenal. It was 3 o'clock in the morning when we touched at San Pedro, and at daylight we passed the memorable spot where Rosas put a boom across the river, which was cut by an English naval officer, under the very nose of old General Mansilla, who had some batteries on the overhanging bluff. At 8 a.m. we reached San Nicolas, a place of very growing importance, with 2 railways, 1 tramway, several 'barracas,' and all the other powerful elements of country-town progress, and at midday we arrived at Rosario. We stop here a few hours and then pass on to Parana. The weather is windy and cold, and the Chicago of the Plate looks as dull this Sunday morning as Patagones or Bahia Blanca. The captain of our steamer tells us that wheat and flour have gone down so much in price in Buenos Ayres, that the carrying trade down the river is gone to the mischief, and that it would pay now to bring up wheat from Buenos Ayres, but of this later on. I run ashore to post this letter, see W. P., and then off again to reach sweet, smiling Santa Fé to-morrow morning.

THE CABINET CRISIS.

OPINIONS OF THE PRESS.

The debate on the Budget Bill has resulted, contrary to the general expectation, in a defeat of the Government by a majority of 264 to 252. It could hardly, indeed, have been supposed that on a question of detail, such as was raised by Sir Michael Hicks-Beach's amendment, the Government would think of resigning, if Sir Charles Dilke had not declared early in the evening, and if the Prime Minister had not repeated the statement with emphasis at the close of the debate, that the question was one of "life" and "death." If the amendment was carried, Sir Charles Dilke said, "the right hon. gentleman must try to form a Government on the policy he has placed before the country to-night." A Cabinet Council had already been summoned for to-day, and new matters of extreme gravity and urgency will have now to be dealt with. To judge by their language last night the Ministry have resolved to resign. We cannot but feel, however, that resignation ought not, in the present position of public affairs, to be hastily decided upon. As Lord George Hamilton pointed out, Budgets have frequently been modified and, in fact, completely transformed after an adverse expression of public opinion without involving the retirement of Ministers or even of the Chancellor of the Exchequer. A financial modus vivendi might be without difficulty arranged, and, indeed, the increase of the spirit and beer duties might be abandoned in deference to the vote of this morning without leaving Mr Childers a larger deficit to transfer to next year than that which he had originally contemplated when he estimated the extraordinary expenditure at eleven millions instead of nine millions. A general election is close at hand, and in any case the existence of the Ministry can be regarded only as provisional. In these circumstances, and considering the unprecedented difficulties in which public business is at present placed, with the Afghan negotiations still unsettled, and with the measure for the renewal of the Crimes Act not yet introduced, it is the duty of the Government most seriously to consider whether they would not do a grave wrong to their country by persisting in the determination to resign. All the arguments which Mr. Gladstone used in his closing speech to rally his followers around him by showing how critical a situation would be created by the ejection of the Ministry from office ought to be equally cogent in making him hesitate to precipitate a crisis which may be, even now, averted. The Opposition can hardly be very proud of or very happy in their success. The Ministry have been defeated on grounds far more defensible than any they have held against much more formidable attacks. If their opponents are forced to take office, they will inherit not only the financial difficulties which Mr Childers made a manful, though unsuccessful, attempt to overcome, but the Afghan question, the Irish question, and all the other troubles of which the crop has been ripening during the past five years.—Times.

The House of Commons this morning, by a majority of two hundred and sixty-four to two hundred and fifty-two, rejected the Budget proposals of the Government. As Mr. Gladstone had gone out of his way to intimate with singular empahsis that the question was one of life or death to the Ministry, and as, immediately after the result of the Division was announced, he moved the adjournment of the House, the resignation of the Cabinet is almost certain to ensue. The amount of temper which the Prime Minister imported into a speech dealing with matters that lend themselves with so little readiness to passionate treatment as those of Finance, afforded a tolerable indication that the character of the Division was foreseen on the Treasury Benches. To the general public, nevertheless, it comes completely as a surprise. Everything seemed to point to a short period of respite and rest—however inglorious—for the Administration of Mr. Gladstone. The differences which only last week threatened the coherence of his Cabinet, had, to all appearance, been adjusted. Lord Spencer, we have reason to believe, has shown no repugnance to a scheme of Local Self-government for Ireland as sweeping as the Radicals could hope; and though points remained over for discussion, conciliation had gone so far as to lead the anti-Coercionist Ministers to assent to a renewal of exceptional powers—whittled down, to be sure, to very moderate dimensions—for a period of two years. For the moment, however, the details of the compromise lose interest. The defeat of the Government throws into the shade the crisis in the Cabinet. What will the end be? Will Ministers not only tender their resignation but go out of office? We cannot believe that they will do anything of the kind. They have received a mortal stroke, but they must, whether they like it or not, agree to linger on till the General Election. Their very blunders render them indispensable. Everything is unfinished; everything hangs in suspense. Mr. Gladstone has failed to secure a majority on one question, and the defection points, no doubt, to a wholesale decay of confidence. But who is to succeed him, or rather what Cabinet is to succeed his Cabinet? Constitutional practice would, of course require that the Conservatives should be called to power. But if they want to rule they must have a majority, and for a majority they must look, not to the House of Commons, but to the Constituencies. How can a General Election be held now? The Redistribution Bill is not law. Months must pass before the new Registers are ready. How is the Queen's Government to be carried on? How are relations with Foreign States to be maintained? The Government owe a reparation to the country for their long series of errors, and they will, we believe, find it their duty—if not their desire—to work out to something like a conclusion the lines of policy which are their own unenviable creation.—Standard.

DR. GOULD.

At the great banquet given in Boston, in May last, to welcome this renowned astronomer back to his native country, Dr. Gould in reply to the toast of the evening said:—

My Dear Friends: Would that I knew how to give some fit expression to my deep sense of your kindness, and to my gratitude for this delightful manifestation of your approval and regard. No man could fail to be profoundly moved, or to indulge a pardonable pride, under such circumstances; and it is only natural that one who is perhaps too sensitive to the opinions of those whom he loves and esteems, should find it difficult to control his emotions or to give full utterance to his thanks.

If the pursuance of my appointed task has entailed sacrifices, the chief among them has certainly been the long separation from the friends at home, whose companionship, encouragement and sympathy were always my greatest source of happiness, outside the narrow limits of domestic life. But there has been something more than mere separation; for, however cherished and abiding may be our memory in the hearts of the friends spared to us for the reunion to which we are always yearningly looking forward, there still remains the consciousness that we have ceased to form an element in their lives, and that all human associations become dulled by the lapse of time. Had I been able to foresee this welcome from those to whoom I am most closely bound by ties of affection, sympathy and respect, the anticipation would have lightened many a weary hour, and given new strength when courage threatened to fail.

You, my dear classmate of 40 years ago, like the other friends around us here, need not be reminded that public speaking was never comprised in the short list of my attainments. It will not surprise you that 15 years' disuse of our native language should have given me no greater command of it nor that an unremitting employment of telescopes and logarithim tables should have made it no easier to face a large assemblage, even though composed only of

KIND AND INDULGENT FRIENDS.

All that I can do is to offer to all of you my overflowing thanks, and to assure you that the long severance from friends and country, now at last ended, shall give greater earnestness to my resolve to atone in the future, as well as may be, for the past neglect of my duties to them and to this community, in which I will never abdicate my priceless birthright.

As you have implied in your too flattering words, the stimulus has never been wanting during my expatriation that whatever it might be within my power to accomplish well would be credited in part to our native land. It is a source of pride to the Argentines that their political organization was modelled upon that of the United States, that their precedents in constitutional law are based upon the decisions of North American courts, and that the word "America" vibrates in their ears with the same melody we know so well. If a conquest from the realm of the unknown be made by American effort, they rejoice in it before considering which is the hemisphere whence the soldiery came. And the success of any laudable effort emanating from this western hemisphere is doubly prized by them when the two Americas have united for its accomplishment.

Science knows no narrow bounds of nationality, yet who would be so cruel or so unwise as to censure or attempt to weaken the intense stimulus which is given by the hope that what honor may attach to a good work will be reflected upon one's own country. Does not a part of the world's tribute to a Frankim, Fulton, Bache, Henry, Agassiz or Peirce—to an Irving, Bryant, Prescott, Motley or Longfellow (I name only such as have left us) belong to their country? And is it not a wholesome incentive to the laborer that he should feel that a portion of his reward will be assigned to his country, or even, in a wider sense, to his own continent, when this has started late in the race, handicapped by the shortness of its history and the restrictions of its past opportunities?

From this point of view, it may not be unseemly if I comply with the request to relate briefly what has been attained at Cordova in these 14½ years, chiefly by North Americans, laboring in the service of the Argentine nation, which has never failed to afford them all needful support and encouragement.

The undertaking began, as you know, with the project of

for which my friends in Boston and vicinity had promised the pecuniary means. The selection of Cordova as an especially desirable place was chiefly due to our lamented countryman Gilliss, whose astronomical mission to Santiago de Chili, had resulted in extensive and valuable observations of southern stars and in the establishment of a national observatory, while it had enabled him to form a sound judgment as to the relative advantages of different points in South America for astronomical purposes, notwithstanding the total want of trustworthy meteorological data. This choice of place was confirmed by the counsel of the Argentine minister to this country. That minister was Sarmiento, a man who needs no encomium here; for, during his brief residence in the United States, he gained an exceptional number of friends and admirers. He transmitted to his government, then under the presidency of General Mitre, my application for certain privileges and assurances, all of which were at once cordially conceded; but his interest in the plan became, furthermore, so great that when, soon afterward, he was himself elected President, he obtained the assent of the Argentine Congress to the establishment of a national observatory, and wrote asking me to change my plans accordingly. The official invitation was sent in due time by the minister of public instruction, Dr. Avelhaneda. The government assumed the expense of the instruments and equipments already bespoken, and authorized the engagement of the requisite assistants.

LONDON LETTER.

(From our own Correspondent,)

SIR PETER LUMSDEN.

THE SILVER QUESTION.

June 8th.

On Saturday evening, 6th inst., it was announced, in an extra-special edition of the Pall Mall Gazette, that a final settlement had been made of the Anglo-Russian dispute. This news has since been confirmed by the St. Petersburg correspondent of the Standard. The Pall Mall of to-night tells us that although it is correct to say that the dispute is settled, there is nothing as yet signed; because Lord Granville is always making small claims for more exact definitions. Havas informs us that the difficulties are not quite arranged, and that in Russia the military preparations continue. There seems to be little doubt that the frontier question, as far as it can be settled in London, is at an end. The rest will be arranged on the spot by the two commissions of survey. The "incident" at Pul-i-khisti will be referred to the arbitration of the King of Denmark. The arbitration will be rigidly confined to the interpretation of the "Sacred Covenant" of March 16th.

Sir Peter Lumsden arrived at Dover on Saturday, and was loudly cheered by the crowd—or by a crowd—on his stepping out of the train at Charing Cross, where an assembly of military men and Conservative politicians were in readiness to receive him.

In the present rancorous state of party spirit in this country it is not surprising that the arrival of Sir Peter Lumsden should be made use of by the Opposition, and that the supporters of the Government should, in their own defence, deal unfairly with that gallant officer, who, as a military man, and one who has been at close quarters with an assumed enemy, and has naturally allied himself to the jingo element at home. Here are two specimens of the manner in which the press treats the subject. The Daily News says:—

"A correspondent informs us that the reception of Sir Peter Lumsden at the Charing-cross Station on Saturday evening had all the appearance of being a carefully arranged Conservative demostration, chief among the actors in the scene being Sir R. Cross, Sir H. D. Wolff, Mr. Chaplin, and two of the Conservative Whips. Our correspondent states that one or two well-known persons who went to the station on other business are accidentally included in the list of those who attended for the purpose of meeting Sir P. Lumsden."

"Impending dismissal of Sir Peter Lumsden. The dislike, almost amounting to hatred, which is felt by members of the Government for men who, like Sir Peter Lumsden, have fearlessly discharged their duties abroad, was displayed on Saturday in a peculiarly bitter way. A member of the Government was standing within sound of the cheers which greeted Sir Peter as he emerged from Charing-cross Station, and on a friend remarking that he had been inside the station to witness the arrival, the Minister replied, with ill-concealed bitterness and sarcastic emphasis: "I suppose you went to warn him of his immediate dismissal." We can vouch for the truth of this statement, which needs no comment. Like Sir Bartle Frere, like General Gordon, like Mr. Clifford Lloyd, like Sir Henry Elliott, Sir Peter Lumsden is to be sacrificed, because, knowing the truth, he acted upon it, and so found himself at variance with a cowardly Administration.

Turning to the reports of the sitting of Parliament this afternoon, we find Mr. Cross, in answer to questions addressed to him by Mr. A. Arnold, replied that Sir Peter Lumsden's commission had not been cancelled . . and that he, Sir Peter Lumsden, did not consider himself responsible, in any way, for alleged utterances which had been incorrectly reported by newspaper correspondents, and he disowned any intention of making an attack on the Government.

Turning from the puerilities of our daily politics, I draw your attention to an interview reported in the Pall-Mall Gazette, with the Hon. Alexander Del Mar, formerly Director of the United States Bureau of Statistics. The subject of the interview was "a new danger to silver," and I send you the article in full. Mr. Del Mar seems to be of opinion that the new Congress will follow President Cleveland's suggestion and stop the coinage of silver in the United States, and finally, as a sequence of that step, will decree its demonetisation. Mr. Del Mar declines to intrude his opinion as to what in that case will be the best thing for England to do to save the rupee likely, under certain circumstances, to fall to 1s. 3d., or even 1s. He approves of Mr. Greenfield's plan of re-opening the mints of Great Britain to the free coinage of silver, and also of the plan of Sir Louis Malet to close the mints of India to silver. By adopting the former measure England would be enabled to buy America's rejected silver cheaply, and after putting her mint stamp upon it sell it at a profit. By the second measure, the silver coins of India would be saved from a sudden and serious loss of value by limiting or ending their further issue.

Mr. Del Mar stated emphatically that there was no "silver party" in America. He, he said, was one who backed silver without having interest in silver mines, whereas he had an interest in gold mines. His object was to present the total measure of value from falling and thus save prices from shrinking. He was wishing that all money should be of gold, were there enough of it, but in his opinion the supplies of gold were steadily falling, and unless the nations remonetise silver they may soon be driven to inconvertible paper.

You must observe, according to Mr. del Mar, the real question has no relation to metal at all. It is simply a question of less or more money. He thinks the growing wants of the States require more money. In America there are 700,000,000 paper dollars still outstanding, and Mr. Del Mar thinks it very unwise to tamper with the metallic basis upon which this vast superstructure rests.

Mr. Del Mar, just as he voted as a member of the Silver Commission of 1876, for the restoration of the silver coinage, now thinks its demonetisation may lead to a suspension of specie payments by the country. He seems to attribute the proposed scheme to the influence of the Secretary of the Treasury, Mr. Manning, whose mind is fixed on the gold doctrine.

The trade accounts from the Unitek States are not favourable. The depression, particularly in the iron trade, is worse than in this country. In the produce market there have been heavy speculations on the supposition that there would be war between England and Russia. Prices in certain articles have since gone down and will decline further, and perhaps lead to difficulties. The late rains in this country have much improved harvest prospects, and all provisions are low in price.

I would remind those apt to attribute low prices altogether to the application of gold, just to compare the profits of French and German farmers on beet sugar. The Germans get a ton of sugar out of 9½ tons of roots, while the French only get the same quantity of sugar out of 17 tons of beet. In rent, labour and value of crops per acre, the advantage is generally in favour of the French, and particularly in regard to the last item; yet the Germans beat them by sheer scientific modes of production, and so lower prices. Prices in general are lowered by increased means and improved modes of production.

SERIOUS EXPLOSION.

London, June 8th.

This morning a serious explosion of gas occurred in the bunkers of her Majesty's ship Inflexible, at Portsmouth, by which fourteen men were injured. Three who were very seriously wounded were taken to the hospital.

A Reuter's telegram from Portsmouth says:—An explosion of coal gas occurred this morning on board her Majesty's turret ship Inflexible, now lying in the harbour. Six stokers and six workmen were badly burned, some of the former so seriously that they are not expected to recover.

A Central News telegram from Portsmouth says:—A serious explosion of gas occurred this morning on board the powerful monitor, Inflexible, which is being coaled in readiness to take part in the evolutions of Admiral Hornby's squadron. On Friday afternoon the holiday connected with the official celebration of the Queen's birthday commenced, and, as the coaling on the Inflexible had not been completed, the iron lids were placed over the shoot, and the ship left under its ordinary guard. These shoots or shafts are about nine feet deep, and lead from the upper deck to the bunkers. It is usual to have the sides of the bunkers ventilated by means of iron gratings, but it is stated that this was not done in the present instance. However that may be, a quantity of coal gas collected in the bunkers, and sufficient time was not allowed for it to escape before recommencing operations this morning. When a light was lowered an explosion occurred attended by a loud rumbling as of the sound of distant thunder. Those on board, however, quickly saw what had happened, and at once set to work to rescue the injured. It was found that seven stokers, named Miller, Baker, King, Batchelor, Bennett, Roberts, and Coleman were badly burned, as were also Thomas Hislop, John Suddick, Thomas Higgins, William Grant, hired hands, and Frederick William Laff, shipwright's apprentice. The injured men were taken to the dockyard surgery, where it was found that the injuries in the case of the stokers, particularly Miller, were so severe that they were taken in cabs and on stretchers to Haslar Hospital. Some of the others were advised to go, but refused; and after having their injuries dressed, proceeded to their homes. The work on board the Inflexible was at once stopped, and the place closed until the official inquiry has been held.

Our correspondent at Portsmouth telegraphs:—The explosion on board the Inflexible is attributed to the imperfect working of bunker ventilating arrangements, or to negligence in adjusting them, so as to exclude air and permit generation of gas since Friday. A court of inquiry is ordered, but the Chief Constructor reports that the departure of the vessel will not be delayed, the damage being slight. A similar but less destructive explosion occurred during the Inflexible's trip to the Mediterranean. The thirteen men most severely injured are progressing satisfactorily; the others were slightly burned. The disaster caused great excitement.

EDITOR'S TABLE.

The loan, and nothing but the loan, was the topic yesterday from morn till night, and finally people got sick of the subject and implored to be let alone. The only question now to consider is, how soon we shall be likely to want another loan?

Estancieros looked quite black under the eyes yesterday at the tremendous hole in the Buenos Aires ballad and budget. It is beginning to strike them that the city of La Plata is rather dear at the price. Dr. Pelligrini might as well knock up another loan for the province while he is in London, and kill "two stones with one bird." The financial situation all round is most delightful; yet we thoroughly agree with a gentleman who has increased his business here 1,000 per cent. in three years, and, when leaving for England on Monday said to a friend: "This country has such wondrous vitality and is growing so fast, that neither "curso forzoso," bad rulers, nor the blundering and (botching to be seen on all sides, will be able to throttle it." This has always been our theory, and we are glad to see it confirmed by a merchant, the relations of whose firm extend over the whole globe, and who has personally visited every civilized country under the sun, "From Shebe to Ind; from China to Peru".

Everybody grinned yesterday at the news that the Annamites and the Gauls have had another desperate fight in Tonkin, in spite of the treaty of peace. The said treaty of peace is the funniest on record; as the fighting was kept up stiffly while it was being arranged, and is still being kept up long after its signature. Of course there will be another demand for satisfaction by France, and perhaps another war. It must be Bismarck.

The programme of the French Socialists is a cheerful document, and reads as if drawn up at Bicêtre. What is France coming to?

The newest thing out is a newspaper without either "a local habitation or a name." It has appeared in Montevideo, to take the place of the Bien Publico which was summarily closed last week by the authorities, because the editor, or the director, or the administrator, refused to pay an unjust bill of costs. Editors lead a miserable life in these regions, unless they are extremely careful and know what to write, think, and avoid.

Sleepy Hollow is to have a new town clock, thanks to the efforts of Mayor Comas, who would be all but knighted in England after such a civic achievement. A colleague up there announces that the clock is a wonder, has three dials, and will be illuminated at night! This spoils the whole thing. A clock that requires illumination at night is only an ordinary clock after all. What is wanted is a clock that can be seen in the dark. There are lots of watches of this kind; and why not clocks?

A gentleman named Savagnat took unto himself a wife of 18 about a fortnight ago, and is now engaged in looking for her, assisted by some sympathising policemen. The fair one is known to have bolted, but whether alone or escorted, no one knows.

An Italian female has "got three months", for throwing boiling water in a man's face. It is better than vitriol any day.

"More quarantine!" is the cry at Montevideo, where they are getting daily more nervous about the cholera in Spain. In a couple of months more the yearly quarantine nuisance will begin in earnest, and a case of cholera in Timbuctoo be enough to set us all shaking in our boots.

The well at Frias station on the Tucuman line has fallen in, and they are in a pretty considerable fix for water for the engines.

The Football match to be played at Lomas to-morrow (9th), Public Companies versus Private Firms, promises to be the best of the season, as all the best men we have, have promised to turn up, and we augur a very pleasant time for those who mean to favour the Footballers with their presence, amongst whom we expect to see the fair sex well represented, as the ladies of Lomas are staunch admirers of manly sports. The interest shown, not only by the players themselves, but also by the outside public in this truly British game 'enthuses' our Football friends, and they intend to start a Club next season, in which purpose we trust they will be successful. The following are the names of the players in to-morrow's match:—

PUBLIC COMPANIES.

Messrs. Bowman, Buist, Ford, Hall, Horrocks, Huxtable, Gifford, Maun, Nisbet, Sampson, C. Shaw, P. Shaw, Steel, Stott and Wood.

PRIVATE FIRMS.

Train leaves Constitucion at 12.30.

Spriggs says that he doesn't see why girls make such a fuss about a kiss. The girls get just quite as much of the kisses as the fellows do. They pretend to be awfully generous when they give away kisses, but he notices that there is just as much generosity on the male side of the bargain when he is around.

We are requested to state that a Polo match will be played on Thursday next, 9th inst. on the Club grounds near Mr. Leslie's quinta, Flores.

The little ones will be glad to hear that Cendrillon is to be given at the Politeama. We believe the learned dogs and monkeys will perform some of their astounding tricks.

All animals have their good points but for abundance of the same none can compete with the porcupine.

The programme for Mr. Stevenson's Benefit, which will be found in its corresponding column, will commend itself to our readers. "Masks and Faces" is one of those plays which commands the attention of the audience from start to finish, and the beautiful costumes employed render the picture presented one of genuine attraction. The concluding farce will keep the risible muscles on the go while the farewell of the company singing the Anthem will lend another attraction to what is already quite an event.

An American paper says—"A suspicious-looking character, who was recently arrested, was questioned as to his vocation, replied, "Sir, I am a doctor, I have drawn teeth from the mouth of the Mississippi; I have anatomised the side of a mountain, and blistered the foot of a bull, felt the pulse of an arm of the sea, plastered a cut on the head of nature."

"How shall I get a valuable cyclopædia free? asks a subscriber. There are a good many ways, but unless he can get one given to him he had better go without it. It is not safe to steal less than $1,000,000 nowadays.

A negro babe was born in Sumpter county, Georgia, which weighed only twenty-two ounces. It's funny how anything so dark can be so light.

The proclamation of Dr. Gorostiaga's candidature by the Catholic Club on Monday was the most imposing of all the recent political meetings. There were 1,000 persons present. The proceedings commenced with prayer, a great innovation in political wafare in this country, and Messrs. Achaval, Goyena, Lamarca, Canon Echague, and Estrada made eloquent speeches. The candidate was unable to attend, being still confined to bed.

A large tenement house in New York recently came crashing down and killed scores of people. The coroner's inquest showed that it had been built with mud instead of mortar. This should be a warning to our mud builders in Buenos Aires. When the Coroner produced a paper full of mortar taken from the ruins in Sixty-second Street, the ex-inspector thumbed it and looked disgusted. "The law requires clear, sharp sand to be used in making mortar," he said. "This stuff is a lot of earthy matter, from which good mortar cannot be made. The rain would wash it out, and if it was used in cold weather and became frozen, the walls would fall with a thaw. In such a case the walls buckle or bulge as the sun's rays melt the mortar."

A middle aged 'escribano' whose wild oats should have been sown long ago, got a bollet through his punch arm on Monday for paying some extremely dubious attentions to an extremely pretty god-daughter, whose indignant father fired the shot. The scrivener bulted the moment the enraged parent drew his six-shooter, and just as the bullet caught his arm, he, in his fearful haste, went head over heels into a slimy "pantano," and even the dogs had to laugh at his plight when he was pulled out.

We rise to call for three cheers for the Lord Mayor, who has just written to Colonel Bosch, the new Chief of Police, asking him to strictly enforce the city bye-law that prohibits mor passengers in a tramcar than it is made to hold. The Colonel is the man to carry out this much needed reform. It is disgraceful to witness the over-crowding of the tram cars, on Sunday especially. The tramway managers and the Lord Mayor had, we believe, an interview on Monday about a general tram reform; but it was of the same "flying" nature as that which the North American Commissioners recently had with President Roca, and nothing worth speaking of was done.

The Colon Theatre opera company will start for Rio Janeiro on Sunday. They are so huffed with the public that they will not condescend to take then benefit here.

A morning colleague qualifies the skating scene in the Prophete, in which a lot of "jovenes distinguidos" figure on the rollers, as "una majaderia tremenda" that should be suppressed. A British subsriber who saw it on Saturday night says that he never laughed so much in his life. Argentine shins and shanks of the masculine gender are evidently not made for exhibition in "tights."

We see by the papers that the Criminal Judge has just given Bill Dickson "two years" for interfering with the personal comfort of George Smith, by a transfer of his portable property without deed or stamps.

Chile shows her superiority to all other Spanish American republics in moral grit by keeping the Lottery pest outside her borders. No lotteries are allowed there; and there is now a bill before Congress to sternly suppress the sale of foreign lottery tickets in that republic.

Signor Dodorico was cleared out by the Lottery trick the other day, and went to bed Signor Dodopobre.

The famous Renovacion de Marcas Law seems to have worked better than at first supposed. Thirty thousand out of 70,000 marks in the province have been renewed. The owners of the 40,000 remaining did the right thing not to stump up their cash too quickly, as they have now eight years more grace, and the Law will probably be repealed long before that time expires.

The new North American colony in Santa Fè has burst on our vision like a flash of lightning. The John Maria colony is composed of families from the United States who have settled on four square leagues of land that now blossoms like the rose. A few years ago this land was barely worth 1000 Bols per league; now its value per league is 30,000 Nats. This beats the Rio Negro Loan Lands. Why in thunder does not the province of B. Ayres go in for colonies like Santa Fé?

A ruffian tried to blow up the Imperial stables in Rio last month, but the explosion only killed two horses.

The San Pedro Municipality is going to invest some of its surplus funds in laying down stone crossings in the streets. A Municipality with surplus funds is indeed a "rara avis in terra." Perpetual deficits are more in the Municipality line.

The 16th will be the day for opening the Cañuelas Railway. The townsfolk are making the most elaborate preparations to celebrate the, for them, great event.

Oh! What's the matter? A fall of 40 per cent in the value of Neuquen lands at the second auction on Monday. It is some satisfaction to know that the buyers who "secured" at the first auction are all Chilians.

The Progreso ball to-night is expected to be a great turn-out. The repairs and transformations, however, are only half finished, and this is not agreeable when a "hop" is in question.

An unfortunate Spaniard named Lopez Jordan blew his brains out in the cemetery at Concordia some days ago. He had been once well off, and was so simple-minded as to expect that the friends of his shining hours would stick to him in his adversity. This so preyed on his mind that he killed himself, thinking more of such contemptible friends than of the sick wife and six little orphans he has left in misery by his self murder.

The Olavarrians are getting up an Exhibition for September next. These shows must pay well, or the would not be so popular in this money-worshipping land. They are being overdone, however, like the theatrical business.

A fair young lassie of 17, of a respectable family, eloped from her father's house in Calle Bolivar on Monday with some young scamp who has been hanging after her for some time. She will have lots of time to repent——her whole life.

Not for a long time have we seen so many stabbing cases in the papers as yesterday; all arising from tavern brawls. Suicides, attempted suicides, and madness also fill the record.

Remataremos a la mas alta postura, 20 carneros Rambouillet, precoces de 14 a 16 meses edad, numerados del 1 al 20. Los animales de esta raza son los que hoy emplean en Europa para dar un pronto desarrollo y gran tamaño a las razas merinas; con ellos se obtienen a los 15 meses el animal de tamaño grande para la exportacion de carne, lo que tan importante es hoy, para los hacendados; a mas la lana es pareja, larga y de mucho rinde, condiciones que exijen hoy los fabricantes.

NOTA—El Señor Nazar nos recomienda hagamos saber a los señores hacendados que este año no han sido esquilados a la raiz todos los animales, por causa del tiempo lluvioso y frio al efectuar la esquila.

Tres dias antes del remate estaran en exhibicion los animales en nuestra casa, Alsina 78

Treinta leguas de campo situadas al Norte y Nor Oeste de la 'Mar Chiquita,' es decir en el departamento de la provincia de Cordoba lindero con la de Santa Fé y por cuyas inmediaciones debe pasar el ferro carril a los Sunchales en construccion y que llega ya a la Colonia Lehmann.

Las colonias de la provincia de Santa Fe van estendiendose de tal manera y con tal rapidez que a este paso tendran que invadir forzosamente las provincias linderas cuyas feraces tierras se adaptan admirablemente a la agricultura que es la verdadera riqueza de las Naciones.

Creemos escusado entrar a demostrar las ventajas que hay para los que inviertan su dinero en tierras, las grandes fortunas en el mundo se han hecho asi y eso basta.

The following is the official notice of this Great Land Auction, which will bring buyers from Europe to invest:—

OFICINA CENTRAL DE TIERRAS Y COLONIAS—Remate de Tierras Nacionales—Con arreglo a la ley de 3 de Noviembre de 1882 y en virtud de lo dispuesto en el decreto de 27 de Marzo ppdo. se venderan en remate publico once secciones de terreno situadas en las confluencia de los rios Limay y Nauquen. La base para la venta sera de 500 pesos la legua. El precio de la tierra debera pagarse la 6ª parte al contado y el resto en cinco cuotas iguales, una al vencimiento de cada año. Las licitaciones tendran lugar los dias 1º al 21 de Julio proximo en la Oficina Central de Tierras y Colonias, establecida en la calle de Salta num. 8 esquina a Rivadavia. Para Planos y detalles, ocurrase a dicha reparticion.—Buenos Aires, Abril 23 de 1885.—EL SECRETARIO.

The general topography of these lands is of the same nature. Without being exactly montainous, the camps are undulating and in some place present the aspect of plateaus where trees grow in profusion, and an abundant mountain grass ("pasto de las sierras") are everywhere to be seen in luxuriance. The valleys or hollows contain innumerable breaks which are a proof of the action of water at a very remote epoch; but these "quebradas" are now dry. However, the grasses and general vegetation seem to meet with no impediment to their growth anywhere. Towards the Nothwestern limit of the polygon slope measured there runs a long or "canada" which comes to an end in the Arroyo Covunco. The cañada is abundantly watered and soft grasses such as the gramilla, trevol etc. grow in wild profusion.

The valleys along the River Nauquen and Limay are fertile although sandy and comprise small trace of flat lands. Nevertheless, there is a sufficient depth of humus to qualify the land for all agricultural purposes. Grasses grow in abundance especially in the "rinconadas" and in the innumerable islands which are to be found along the course of the river. There are also various classes of forest trees including sarsaparilla.

The valleys are fertile and with rich black earth suitable for agriculture. Along the Limay and on the islands there are forest of Sauce Colorado and Blanco which timber is very useful for building purposes, and it may be added that the Limay on its entire length is navigable for small steamers and vessels that can connect with the navigation of the Rio Negro.

Dysentery, Cholera Fever, Ague Coughs, Colds, &c.

Dr J. Collis Browne's Chlorodyne

(Ex Army Medical Staff)

IS THE ORIGINAL AND ONLY GENUINE.

CAUTION—Vice-Chancellor Sir W. P. Wood stated that Dr. J. Collis Browne was undoubtedly the inventor of Chlorodyne; that the story of the defendant, Freeman, being the inventor was deliberately untrue, which he regretted had been sworn to. Eminent hospital physicians of London stated that Dr. J. Collis Browne was the discoverer of Chlorodyne; that they prescribe it largely, and mean no other than Dr. Browne's—See Times, July 12th 1864.

The Public, therefore, are cautioned against using any other than

Dr J. Collis Browne's Chlorodyne.

REMEDIAL USES AND ACTION.

This invaluable remedy produces quiet, refreshing sleep, relieves pain, calms the system, restores the deranged functions, and stimulates health action of the secretions of the body, without creating any of those unpleasant results attending the use of opium. Old and young may take it all hours and times when requisite. Thousands of persons testify to its marvellous good effects and wonderful cures, while medical men extol its virtues most extensive.

CHLORODYNE is admitted by the profession to be the most wonderful and valuable remedy ever discovered.

CHLORODYNE effectually cuts short all attacks of Epilepsy, Hysteria, Palpitation and Spasms.

From Symes & Co., Pharmaceutical Chemist, Medical Hall, Simla, Jan-5th 1880. To J. T. Davenport, Esq., 22, Great Russell Street, Bloomsbury, London—"Dear Sir, we embrace this opportunity of congratulating you upon the wide-spread reputation this justly-esteemed medicine, DR COLLIS BROWNE'S CHLORODYNE has earned for itself, not only in Hindostan, but all over the East. As a remedy of general utility, we much question whether a better is imported into the country, and we shall be glad to hear of its finding a place in every Anglo-Indian home. The other brands, we are happy to say, are now relegated to the native bazaars, and, judging from their sale, we fancy their sojourn there will be but evanescent. We could multiply instances ad infinitum of the extraordinary efficacy of DR. COLLIS BROWNE'S CHLORODYNE in Diarrhoea, and Dysentery, Spasms, Cramps, Neuralgia, the Vomiting of Pregnancy, and as a general sedative, that have occurred under our personal observation during many years. In Choleraic Diarrhoea, and even in the more terrible forms of Cholera itself, we have witnessed its surprisingly controlling power. We have never used any other form of this medicine than Collis Browne's, from a firm conviction that it is decidedly the best, and also from a sense of duty we owe to the profession and the public, as we are of opinion that the substitution of any other than Collis Browne's is a "deliberate breach of faith on the part of the chemist to prescriber and patient alike." We are, Sir, faithfully yours, Symes & Co., Members of the Pharm. Society of Great Britain, His Excellency the Viceroy's Chemists."

Extract from the General Board of Health, London, as to its efficacy in Cholera—"So strongly are we convinced of the immense value of this remedy that we cannot too forcibly urge the necessity of adopting it in all classes."

CAUTION—None genuine without the words 'Dr J. Collis Browne or the Government Stamp. Overwhelming medical testimony accompanies each bottle.

A cold blast of the East wind swept over the market this morning, and the bears came down on the gold premium with horse, foot and artillery. The speculation was still feeling the effect of the news that Pellegrini had completed the loan arrangements in London when this morning's great bearish attack began. A tremendous push was made to upset the market, but little advantage was gained during official hours, and the results did not answer the glowing expectations of the heavy dealers operating for a fall. The firm foundation of the gold market never looked so palpable as to-day when resisting the great pressure of the bearish speculation. This stubborn resistance of the premium may persuade some of the leading bulls that they are exhausting their strength by going against the current of the market.

The speculation at the ring to-day reminded one of the feverish excitement of the 16th ult. when the Pellegrini soap-bubble burst in the hall and failed to produce the desired effect. The premium then, as to-day, held its ground, falling only slightly under 30 o/o. The bears have for the second time mistaken the market and have been defeated on both occasions. Last month they endeavored to push the market far under 30 o/o, and they have continued the attempt till to-day, without any greater probabilities of success. The bearish speculation is not sound, because it looks artificial. If any bullish speculation propped up the market there would be grounds to doubt the tendency of the premium, but when one sees exchange drooping at 46½ and the steady resistance opposed by the steady, legitimate demands of the market, there can be no two opinions about the true state of affairs round the ring, and even if the bears manage to put down the premium 5 o/o more, the depression will only be temporary and shortlived.

The volume of speculation during official hours absorbed over one million dollars. There were strong buyers for cash and very heavy sellers on time. Operations for cash embraced 140,000$; the market opened at 129.80, fell to 129.20 and closed at 129.40. Over one hundred thousand changed hands at the same rates for the 11th. Half a million was sold for the end of the month; the market opened at 129.50, fell to 129 and closed at 129.20. Speculation for the end of August ruled very brisk. The cattle-king sold right and left, but there were steady buyers at 129.10. Over two hundred thousand were sold at 129.20 to 129. Towards the close of official hours it looked as if the stand made by the market during the greater part of the morning would not last, and afterhours dawned with a weak feeling. The excitement round the ring was feverish, and the bears made a tremendous effort to produce a headlong fall; the speculation at afterhours promised to be more propitious to them than that of the morning. The market closed pretty firm at 129.40 for cash and weak at 129.20 for the end of the month.

The spurt that put up Cedulas last night continued to-day, in spite of a heavy supply of the stock. A leading English broker sold heavily for cash, but the market ruled firm and buoyant. A few thousand A and E Series were sold for cash at 100$-¼ and 79½, respectively. Operations in Series F embraced 1c,000 for cash at 78¾ to 78½, 91,000 for the end of the month at 78¼ to 78, and 1c,000 for August at 77½. The market ruled much firmer than yesterday. Six hundred certificates of the National Bank were sold for cash and for the end of the month at 96. A few thousand National 5 o/o Bonds changed hands at 67.

The exchange market continues weak at 46½ in the outside market. There is little business doing, and the news of the success of the Pellegrini mission has failed to put any life into the market. The money market is easy. The rise in Cedulas is traced to the plethora of paper money offered on all sides. Paper money will rule very cheap this winter, and the rate will probably go down to 5 o/o. Government bills are in demand at current rates, but the supply is small.

Although it is premature to discuss the merits of the Pellegrini loan business, as the details of the negotiation are kept under reserve, it is believed in the hall that not a sovereign of the loan will come to this market. The numerous articles of our colleague El Nacional have produced a feeling of prejudice against the business, and, if it is true that the loans are negotiated at 70 o/o, we must confess that the quotation is a rather low one. It matters little if the sovereigns are shipped or not; in fact, it would be better to keep the gold in London and draw here, but 30 o/o off an Argentine loan, when money is hawked about London under ½ o/o, is too great a shave. A strong opposition will raise its head in Congress if this condition of 70 o/o for the three loans turns out to be true. It is far more probable that the bankers have offered to take over the business under the conditions announced last month, viz., 75 o/o from, 2½ o/o commission and surplus over 75 o/o to be divided between the Government and the Syndicate. Some papers say that the Government will only get 62 o/o out of the business.

Messrs Talaferro & Sanchez have sold the fine San Martin estancia of Mr. M. Nazar in the district of Olavarria at the rate of $20,000 m/n per league. The estancia covered an area of 3 leagues. This is rather a low price for lands in Olavarria. Buyer, M. Lopez Chas-tonet. The stock on the property sold as follows:—

Imported Durham Bull $560, buyer Mr Romulo Nazar; 117 Durham cows $22 each, buyer Colonel Donovan; 300 Hereford cattle $16 50 each, buyer Col. Godoy; 25 Hereford bulls $22, buyer Col. Donovan; 25 Hereford bulls $25 50. 2,200; Criollo cattle with mestizo bulls $8 30 al corte; 2 pure Ramboullet rams $28, to Col. Godoy; 1 pure Ramboullet ram at $30 to Romulo Nazar; 1 ditto $28.70 to Col. Godoy one ditto at $30 to Romulo Nazar, one same at 28, one to Mr. A. Sacriste at 29, 11 pure Lincoln rams at 24, 20 mestizo Ramboullet rams at $4 each to Col. Donovan, 22 oxen at 29, 11 pure Ramboullet sheep at 25 to Sr. Espiesi, 80 ditto to Santiago Roca at 24 each, 1,620 sheep at 90 cents, 1,650 at 95 cents. to Col. Donovan, 1,500 at 95 cents. 1750 at $1 to Col. Donovan, 1520 at 85 cents. to same, at 80 cents, 1,200 Lincolns at 1.32, 1500 at 80 cents, etc. etc. etc.

Messrs. Calvo (Bros estancia in Concepcion del Uruguay, has been sold to Mr. Bridges of Gualeguay. The camp measures 1½ leagues. The price paid 1$32,000 m/n. The cattle in the establishment at 50$; mares at 3, sheep at 1, horses at 40.

The gross returns of the Central Argentine Railway for the month of May amounted to $241,707 m/n. The net proceeds were 129,241 dollars.

Telegrams from Patagones announce that the Villarino has not yet been able to cross the bar of the Rio Negro, owing to the rough sea.

Fifty thousand dollars gold were bought this morning at 131 for the end of the month, on condition that the purchaser might ask double the amount at the settlement.

All the Lincoln, Loreto and Venado Tuerto estancieros wish to know when Mr. Clark will obtain permission from the Government to open the railway section between Junin and Picasa lake. The permanent way between Junin and Villa Mercedes in San Luis will be completed in the beginning of 1886. Navvies are working at both ends.

The returns of the Custom House of Rosario for last month amounted to $275,000 m/n.

There was a turning movement to-day in the gold speculation that did not escape the notice of outsiders. It looks as if the great bearish clique is on the eve of one of those favorite flanking operations that suddenly change the course of the speculation. There is a visible inclination to buy back and give up the bearish tactics. The buying back operation, if effected at present prices, would no doubt, give the bears a splendid profit, but the market may jump up and deceive them. At all events, appearances point to this change in the speculation.

Shipbrokers report a very dull market. Freights are quite nominal and steamers must fill with grain.

It was rumoured that a telegram was received yesterday from Antwerp announcing a fall in wool. Some parties stated that the fall amounted to 10 o/o.

Over one thousand Certificates of the Nat. Bank were sold this afternoon at 96, 97 and 98. There was an unusually strong demand for Scrip this evening. The bulls say that the stock will go over 100 next month. The Bank, it is rumored, clears a profit of 3½ millions for the half year, and another effort is on foot to get the Government to modify the terms of the forced currency decree, which deprives the shareholders of the Bank of half the profits.

The State Banks, it is rumored, will begin drawing exchange before the end of the month.

About half a million dollars were sold during afterhours. The gold market ruled firm during the evening, and the premium ran up to 29.50, over one hundred thousand dollars were sold at this rate. The market closed, between buyers and sellers, at 129,40 for the 30th. About two hundred thousand dollars were sold for the end of August at 129 and 129.20.

Mr. Wm. Cook, of the firm of Sansinena & Co., took leave of his legion of friends to-day. He leaves to-morrow for London in connection with the meat-freezing business. Mr. Cook's residence in London, we hear, will be a lengthy one.

Mr. Latzina's statistics of the trade of the B. Ayres Custom House for the month of June shew a great shrinkage in exports and a comparatively steady influx of foreign goods. If we take into account the depreciation in the currency—say 25 o/o—the sub-joined figures of imports for the last six months shew a falling off when compared with those for the same period of the previous year, but it is remarkable that under the anomalous circumstances of the market, entailing a rise of from 30 to 40 o/o in the value of imported articles in paper, imports should continue to flow into the country in such large quantities. There could be no better proof of the comfort and wealth of all classes and of the exaggerated proportions that are given to a crisis that so far only affects to any serious extent the revenue of the Government. In order to give an accurate idea of the current and volume of trade of the Custom House of this city we append the monthly figures of the half-year ending June 30th, 1885, and of the same period of 1884:—

Imports for first half-year—	1884	1885
January	$4,973,000	$8,143,000
February	3,320,000	4,977,000
March	5,598,000	5,998,000
April	6,018,000	4,235,000
May	7,161,000	7,745,000
June	6,803,000	5,095,000
Total	32,873,000	36,192,000

It may be well to remind our readers that, although the above figures are official, they are not quite accurate, since Mr. Latzina makes out the total imports for the six months 34,254,851 for half of 1884, and 37,342,583 for half of 1885. The difference is only a fleabite of about two millions for 1884 and one million for 1885. We call Mr. Latzina's attention to this discrepancy; something has gone wrong in the addition. Taking our figures as the correct total and making allowance for a 25 o/o discount in paper, we have the following results:—

	Half-year of 1884	Half-year of 1885
Imports	32,873,000	27,000,000

The shrinkage only amounts to about a million sterling. The figures of exports are as follows:—

	½ 1884	½ 1885
January	$7,183,000	$5,705,000
February	6,771,000	9,162,000
March	5,671,000	7,762,000
April	5,623,000	7,282,000
May	3,862,000	3,920,000
June	3,449,000	1,906,000
Total	31,959,000	35,677,000

Here again, although the monthly figures are official, our total differs from that of the statistical office which makes out 32 millions for 1884—more or less our figure—and 37,669,000 for ½ 1885, about two millions more than our addition. Accepting the official totals and allowing for paper depreciation we have:

	½ 1884	½ 1885
Exports	32,000,000	28,250,000

The above are official values and may be under the mark for exports, but they afford a very interesting comparison, as we see at a glance to what extent the fall in prices in the markets of consumption affects us, in spite of the great increases in our wool production and spurt in the saladero industry. This shrinkage in the export figures of no less than four millions of dollars is far more significant than the falling off in imports. As all these figures refer to the Province of B. Ayres, the members of the financial committee of the La Plata Legislature might take the trouble to study them and witness the phenomenon of impoverishment in spite of increased production and increasing numbers of flocks and herds. The fall in prices has beaten production hollow in the race, and the rulers of the Province ought to pause before increasing the taxes and the expenditure of the Government. To sum up we have:—

	Imports	Exports
½ 1884	32,873,000	32,000,000
½ 1885	27,000,000	28,250,000
Decrease	5,873,000	3,750,000

A glance at the Custom returns shews to what extent the Government suffers by the currency crisis:—

	½ 1884	½ 1885
Duties	$11,017,000	$12,385,000

Reducing the paper-money to a gold basis we have:—

1884	$11,017,000
1885	9,289,000
Falling off	1,728,000
